ARK

$3,500

Masterfully crafted black walnut with gold leaf accents
10"W x 11.5"H x 28"L

Doug Haslam's "Ark" applies biblical and contemporary imagery, which evokes a sense of strength and righteousness. Travel and immersion in different cultures has always played a significant role in Haslam's artistic development. He has received public commissions from the Calgary Downtown Association, the Alberta Medical Association, Chinook Centre, the City of Calgary and the Alberta Foundation for the Arts. For the past 16 years Haslam has also taught a variety of courses related to his practice through the Continuing Education arm of the Calgary Board of Education, the Kootenay School of the Arts, and the "Series" summer arts program at Red Deer College.

ROCKER VESSEL

$1,200

Stoneware clay, glazed and mixed with copper

Original design 1 of 1

5.5"W x 7"H x 9"L

Ann Bates makes one-off, hand built contemporary ceramic pieces that are both sculptural and functional. These rocker vessels actually rock! Her unique artistic style has is influenced by geological formations and the decoration on ancient standing stones, mainly the spiral—the natural form of growth and symbol of everlasting life. While much of her work owes its texture and shape to leaves, seed pods and butterfly eggs, the spiral is always present and is her mark.

Los Angeles, CA FD 1358

EARTH

Wheel-thrown mica-clay with bronze handle

Cast in lost wax process from gnarled root

11"W x 8"H

$750

Carol Green's award winning "Earth" epitomizes elegance, timelessness and cultural relevance through original visual interpretations of simple beauty. Green wishes to bring the natural balance one finds in museums and art galleries into her work.

FOLIAGE

$700

Hand built sagger-fired clay with printed paper leaf collage panels, skeletonized leaves, scorched bamboo and waxen linen

13"W x 7"H x 13"L

East meets west in Michael and Christine Adcock's work exhibiting floral panels set into clay. A potter and a basket weaver, husband and wife, the Adcocks work individually and in collaboration. In this relationship between both artists and media, Michael is the potter and Christine is the fiber artist.

NIGHT SKY

Hand thrown white clay with a deep cobalt blue glaze and sterling silver lid
8"W x 9.5"H

$675

Based on her most highly prized and award winning designs, Carol Green's "Night Sky" seamlessly fuses pottery with metalwork, evoking a sense of strength in serenity. Green wishes to bring the natural balance one finds in museums and art galleries into her work.
